THE COWPEA.

Gives Heavy Yield of Fine Hay for Stock Feeding.

No field crop is increasing in popularity so fast in this locality as the cowpea, writes an Indiana correspondent of Orange Judd Farmer. This is on account of its profitability in mixed farming and stock feeding, as well as in the fact that it is an excellent substitute for clover. Of late years, clover has not been as sure a crop as it was formerly. It is a difficult matter to secure a good stand. Even when a stand is secured, there is some sort of blight or insect pest that destroys the crop and this interferes with the farm rotation.

The increasing popularity of the cowpea is due to the fact that it gives a heavy yield of the very finest hay for stock feeding that can be produced upon the farm and at the same time is a soil renovator. It is grown very cheaply in a cowpea, wheat, grass and corn rotation. One good breaking of the land in spring is sufficient not only for the pea crop, but also for the wheat that should follow it. After the pea crop is exhausted the ground is loose and the only preparation necessary for wheat is to disk and drag down, this giving a perfect seedbed and splendid conditions to insure a paying crop of wheat.

The hay is relished by all kinds of farm stock, including swine and poultry, and comes nearer being a complete ration than any other crop that can be raised on the farm. One thing I notice is that the farmer who gives it a test is sure to adopt it somewhere in his regular rotation. It is a crop that has come to stay in this part of the country.

There is no hurry about starting the crop in spring. Land should be deep and thoroughly plowed and worked down. Some time the latter part of May or first of June the seed is sown, about a bushel and a peck to the acre. It may be sown broadcast or with the drill. From 100 to 200 pounds of good fertilizer should be used per acre.

The time to harvest comes along the latter part of the summer when conditions are usually perfect for hay-making. The peas are cut when the seed pods are hard, if both hay and grain are desirable. If for hay alone, cut a week sooner. A rain will not injure the hay as it does clover. After it is cut, allow it to remain in the swath until cured and then move away. A longer time is required for curing properly than for clover hay, but it is much more valuable. It is almost indispensable in the dairy, and will reduce the expense of bran buying to the minimum. Some persons advise the sowing of oats with peas to hold them up, but this is not necessary or satisfactory.

It will pay to grow peas for pasture, for they come in when the grasses fail, either on account of drought or overstocking. Those who have never given cowpeas a trial should give them a test this season and be convinced of the profitability of the crop.

USING THREE HORSES.

How It Can Be Done by Use of an Offset Iron.

When three horses are used for heavy hauling, a double tongue is sometimes used. But for farm work, an offset iron may be put on the tongue of the wagon or almost any farm implement. The offset should be made of iron, two inches wide. The draw-hole in it should be ten or 12

The Offset on Wagon Pole.

Inches from the tongue as shown in the cut. It is easily and cheaply made, says Farm and Home, and very quickly put on or taken off when one wants to change from two to three horses or back again.

FARM GLEANINGS.

It may seem unseasonable, but nature knows her business. One thing we have always noticed: A good corn year nearly always has a dry spring for a starter.

There is no great loss without some small gain. If it is too cold for crops to do well we can console ourselves by thinking that the weeds are getting a set-back, too.

In a dry time it is always a good plan to get the seed down on solid ground. Planted in the loose ground left by the sub-soiler, it is apt to dry out if the weather continues dry. If the planter puts it down to the bottom it is pretty certain to come.

There is one thing becoming more certain every day. It is: A cow can no longer be kept at a profit when all she brings in is a calf each year. The price of stock cattle late years, together with the high price of land, is fast settling that question.

If hogs are kept in a dry pen they are either kept at a loss or else the bill for shorts is a big one. Shorts at $20 per ton are high in price compared with corn, but they must be fed in a dry pen or the hogs will be at a standstill. Corn alone will stunt any growing pig.

IF A MAN WOULD SUCCEED.

He must not live on past successes.

He must not mistake egotism for originality.

He must be able to forget himself in his work.

He must ever set himself more difficult undertakings.

He must understand that every business has its trials.

He must study situations as they present themselves.

He must be more willing to grant favors than to ask for them.

He must know that struggle is the most valuable part of success.

He must know that the most fortunate of men have their trials.

He must learn to solve difficult problems quickly and still cautiously.

He must know that his two hands have been given him so that he may work.

He must learn that most things gained in a hurry are not worth the having.

He must be able to distinguish between a partial success and a total failure.

He must know most men suffer many a defeat before earning a single success.

He must not change his employment every week in the hope of finding something better.

He must know that the most golden opportunities are close at hand if he will study them.

JUST THOUGHTS.

The path of duty leads to happiness.

Fortune tellers are fortune swellers for themselves.

Many a man takes a better half in a half-hearted manner.

Courtship is the juicy grape and marriage the appendicitis.

Judge no man's sincerity by what he says, but by what he doesn't.

Present a small boy with a watch and he'll have the time of his life.

Hot air is the motive power that operates the human talking machine.

Many a man becomes a jailbird through his strenuous efforts to feather his nest.

When a man is looking for trouble few of his friends are too busy to assist in the search.

And the mining prospectus gets the coin while the hard-luck story is bumping the bumps.

Did you ever notice how few people there are present when anyone happens to say nice things about you?

A successful financier is a man who can separate other men from their money without the aid of a sandbag.

MAXIMS FROM MEXICO.

There's no gain without pain.

To the hungry no bread is dry.

He who has little has little to fear.

Flies cannot enter a closed mouth.

It is good fishing in troubled waters.

No evil will endure a hundred years.

A cat in gloves will never catch rats.

A book that is shut makes no scholar.

A frugal rich father and a spendthrift son.

If the pill were not bitter it would not be gilt.

When the river is passed the saint is forgotten.

No word is ill spoken if it is not ill understood.

A tongue may inflict a deeper wound than a sword.

MERE OPINION.

Man learns to talk. Woman talks by instinct.

Man boasts of his experience. Woman is proud of her lack of it.

To a man wealth means power; to a woman the joy of being envied.

A man with a future and a woman with a past can generally be sure that they are being talked about.

The woman who fondles a dog to make a man jealous generally succeeds in filling him with disgust.

If it were considered fitting that wives should be older than their husbands marriage would become obsolete.

THE BEATITUDES ACCORDING TO FORTUNA.

Blessed are the poor in spirit, for they are easily fleeced.

Blessed are the unscrupulous, for they do inherit the earth.

Blessed are the war-makers, for they are honored of men.

Blessed are the merciless, for they are the rulers of the world.

Blessed are the corrupt in heart, for sinecures are given unto them.

Blessed are they that do hunger and thirst after boodle, for they shall be filled.

Blessed are they that mourn, for they are relieved of the burden of inherited riches.

Blessed are they who are persecuted for money's sake, for theirs is the kingdom of hell.

Blessed are ye, lords of fortune, when men shall flatter and prostrate themselves before you, and shall say all manner of compliments to you falsely, for sake of office.

Rejoice and be exceeding glad, for great is the reward of villainy; and so were honored the villains which were before you.—William Restelle in Life.

SPINSTER'S THOUGHTS.

Love is that thing which makes you believe what you know is not true.

A remembered kiss is like an exclamation point in the mental landscape.

It is fearfully discouraging when we are good to find how monotonous and lonely life is.

When a man is willing to go to church with a girl he is terribly fond of her, for the time being.

There is at least this one good point about being married—that, while you are, you cannot be so foolish again.

One of the queerest things about a man is the way he thinks that the woman who loves him should adore his faults.

Strange that even when a man is married and has freckles on his face or bald, that he still thinks girls should like him.

Kink-ine Is No Experiment. It was discovered by R. Roberts, a famous English chemist, who has made a study of the scalp of colored people for the past 30 years, and who, after much time and experience, has prepared this great tonic for the colored people.

This chemist says that his experience and study have taught him that the scalp of the colored people requires a special treatment and after laboring and testing these many years he has discovered the greatest REMEDY the WORLD has ever known for the HAIR of colored people.

KINK-INE will make the hair GROW from one to three inches per month, if the directions and instructions are carefully followed out. We have many cases on record where the above results have been obtained, and we do not hesitate when we make these claims.

KINK-INE is the only safe preparation in the world that is guaranteed to make the hair straight and make dry hair smooth and stop it from breaking off and falling out; takes out all the knots and dandruff, makes the hair soft and silky, and by nourishing the roots gives it new life and vigor, restoring it to natural color.

Read what Miss Elizabeth Jones of Chicago says of KINK-INE: "My hair was not more than three inches long when I commenced to use Kink-ine, six months ago. I have used it steadily since that date and it has grown on an average of two inches each month and it is now more than fifteen inches long. Besides, my hair has become almost straight and I fully believe by the end of the year I will have the most beautiful head of hair of any colored lady in the world."

SPECIAL OFFER.—To prove the quality and superiority of our goods over all others, we will sell one full-size bottle of Kink-ine, price 25 cents, one cake of Kink-ine Soap, the best Shampoo and Toilet Soap in the world, price 25 cents, both for only 50 cents, or six bottles and six cakes of soap for $3.00.
